Russia Issues Thinly Veiled Threats To Other Satellites

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 13 (AP)—Russia issued a thinly veiled threat today to its satellites not to attempt a repetition of the Hungarian revolt.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov, fighting to block another United Nations General Assembly discussion of Russia's repression of the nationalist revolution in Hungary, told the U.N. steering committee the Russian army "self-sacrificingly carried out the terms" of the Kremlin's treaty with Hungary.

"Peoples devoted to the high ideals of the U.N.," Kuznetsov said, "will surely draw appropriate lessons from the Hungarian event so that in the future, counter-revolutionary forces should not be able to stage such blood-thirsty orgies as occurred in Hungary."

While Kuznetsov spoke to the 15-member committee, which recommends what the Assembly's agenda shall be, a four-member Hungarian delegation representing the Kremlin's puppet government, arrived in New York for the assembly session.

Headed by Imre Horvath, understood to be foreign minister in the new regime of Premier Janos Kadar, the delegation included two women—Margit Geise and Kitty Sima—and one other man, Endre Sic.

They were met at New York International Airport by Arkady Sobolev, Soviet ambassador to the U.N., and left in the Russian's limousine.

The steering, or general committee, without dissent, put on the Assembly's agenda the critical Middle East situation "as a matter of priority" for debate at any time, and then turned to the Hungarian issue.

The Soviet-backed regime of Premier Janos Kadar rejected Monday a U.N. request that it admit observers into shattered and starving Hungary. In effect, the anti-Communist revolt, a 4 its suppression by Soviet tanks and troops was none of the U.N.'s business.

It was a foregone conclusion that the 15-nation Steering Committee meeting today would decide to place the issue immediately before the assembly.

Quick Action Necessary
When the assembly ended its two-day emergency session Saturday on the crisis in Hungary and the Middle East, provision was made to bring the problems up before the regular session.

Quick action was necessary, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld planned to leave by plane at 5 p.m. to supervise setting up of the U.N. police force in the Middle East. He will not return before Sunday.

If the General Assembly wanted him to make any immediate moves in the Hungarian situation, it would have to decide before he left New York.

Hold Quiet Session
Hammarskjöld received the latest communication by cable from the puppet Kadar regime late Monday. The message was signed by Istvan Sebes, acting foreign minister of the "revolutionary" workers and peasants government of the Hungarian peoples republic.

The opening day of the assembly's regular 1956 session Monday has quiet compared with what has gone by in the last two weeks.

The assembly unanimously elected Prince Wan Waitayakon of Thailand as its president and admitted to membership Morocco, Sudan and Tunisia. The new admissions brought the U.N. roll to 79 nations.

Boy Dies As Effigy Of Elvis Is Hung
CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP)—Fourteen-year old Martin Ritchie joined five other teenagers Monday night in a joking attempt to hang Elvis Presley in effigy. The prank cost Martin his life.

Police learned the story from Edward Grant, 14, and his companions.

"We had nothing to do so we decided to make a dummy and hang it from a light post," Edward told them. "We got some old rags and newspaper and things we found around. Then we got a five-gallon can for the head and somebody said, 'who will it be?'"

"Somebody said, 'let's make it Elvis.' So we got a cardboard and wrote 'Elvis' on it. The kid got a rope and strung it around the dummy's head. Marty climbed the pole with the rope in his hands."

When young Ritchie touched the lightshade, police were told, he stiffened, slid halfway down the pole and fell to the ground.

A bureau of electricity official said 5,000 volts of current passed through the boy's body. He died soon afterward at Holy Cross Hospital.

Supreme Court To Hand Down Decisions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Supreme Court meets today to hand down opinions before hearing this month's final week of arguments.

Arguments on the big Dupont-General Motors anti-trust suit start Wednesday. The government in this case is trying to show that the two giant corporations are working together in violation of federal anti-monopoly laws.

Among cases under advisement by the court are two Communist cases. They involve a constitutional test of the "membership clause" in the Smith Act of 1940 and the appeal of 14 California Communists from a conspiracy conviction.

Some other cases awaiting Supreme Court review:

The widely publicized Montgomery, Ala., bus case testing the constitutionality of racial segregation on inter-state buses.

The appeal of Samuel H. Shepard, 33, Cleveland osteopath convicted of the bludgeon-murder of his wife, Marilyn, in 1954.

British Warn Of Sneak Air Attack As UN Troops Move In

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP)—British military leaders on Cyprus warned today of the possibility of a "sneak" air attack from Syria during the period a United Nations police force is taking over the duties of preserving peace in the Middle East.

The semi-official Mideast News Agency in Cairo announced the first detachment of a U.N. force of 45 men arrived today at Abusweir Airfield, south of Ismailia. But in Naples a U.N. spokesman said no U.N. troops had yet left the staging area.

There was no explanation of the Middle East report. The semi-official agency is owned by the Egyptian government. It said the first United Nations troops set down at midnight EST and that others were expected during the next seven hours.

Virgil de Angelis, head of the U.N. staff at Capodichino Airfield, said no U.N. troops had yet left.

There was some speculation the U.N. staff might be taking over a team of 10 U.N. observers sent in Monday.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was leaving New York tonight for the Naples, Italy, staging area where the first troops from Colombia, Denmark and Norway arrived earlier this week. He was flying on to Cairo later to see there was no slip up.

British military leaders on Cyprus were taking no chances during the crucial takeover period. They ordered highest security precautions against possibility of an attack from Syria where scores of Soviet-built MIG jet fighters have been reported massed on Syrian airfields.

Discount Egyptian Attack
The British discounted the possibility of an attack from Egypt because of the destruction of four-fifths of the Egyptian air force in bombing attacks that began a week ago and because of the radar screen between Cyprus and Egypt. But they noted Syria is only 80 minutes flying time from Cyprus.

There have been reports that up to 1,000 Soviet technicians already were in Egypt and Syria, but an RAF source said there was no evidence any of them.

Local Lifetime Incomes Hit $93,000; Doubles In 40 Years

(Special to the Ledger & Times)
NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Particular interest now, because this is American Education Week, is the dollars and cents value of education to the young men of Calloway County.

A special study, made by analysts in the U.S. Census Bureau, shows that the lifetime earning capacity of the average male resident has reached new heights locally.

Under current conditions of employment, of national business health, of education and of life span, the youth starting out now to make a living can expect lifetime earnings totaling $93,000. It is twice the amount to which a man could have looked forward after the last war, inflationary effects considered. No figures are included for women.

This view into the future, based on data compiled at the Census Bureau, is reflected in the current earnings in Calloway County, where after-tax incomes are running $3,370 per family.

Heavy Fighting Continues To Be Heard In Hungary

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
VIENNA, Nov. 13 (AP)—New fighting erupted today in Budapest where Soviet leaders were reported trying to quell the Hungarian rebellion.

Reports from an unimpeachable source in Budapest said it was impossible to pin down definitely where the battle was raging, since it was some distance from the center of the city.

It was evident, however, that diehard bands of freedom fighters were still battling Soviet tanks and troops on the outskirts of the shattered capital, the source said. He added there was no fighting in the inner city.

A delegation of top Soviet leaders flew into Budapest in a desperate attempt to find ways of ending continued resistance to the Communist regime.

Austrian authorities reported the flood of refugees from Hungary continued with more than 2,300 men, women and children crossing the frontier into Austria since noon Monday.

The Austrian radio said Hungarian Communist border guards opened fire on a group of refugees trying to cross near Rechnitz. The radio said two of the refugees were wounded and the others beaten and dragged back bodily.

United Press correspondent Russell Jones said in a dispatch from Budapest there were reports a group of Russian leaders, including Nikita Khrushchev, flew there to try to restore order and bolster the puppet regime of Janos Kadar.

Hungarian rebels told of continuing resistance throughout Hungary and no sign of an end to the 21-day old general strike that has produced chaos. It was believed the worried Kremlin leaders might be trying to get former Premier Imre Nagy back into the government. Nagy was discussing Soviet troop withdrawals with the Russians.

Tennessee Man Arrested On Charge Here

Sheriff Brigham Futrell reported today that Eugene Harris of near Clarksville, Tennessee, has been arrested in connection with the alleged kidnapping of a boy driven by Wybert Morris of the county.

According to Futrell Mr. and Mrs. Morris were out driving Sunday and as they started to pull around the car in front of them, the Mercury driven by Harris passed them.

In passing them, Morris told Futrell the car of Harris side-swiped his car causing about $50 damage.

Morris called Futrell who in turn called state police giving a description of the car and the license number.

Trooper Turner spotted the car and made the arrest between Dexter and Hardin.

Morris said that Harris kept on going after the incident. Harris said that he did not know he had side-swiped anyone. The only evidence on his car was a slight scratch.

He was brought into Murray and charged with having no driver's license. He made an appearance bond to appear here on December 1 for a hearing.

Harris lives near Clarksville but works in Granite City, Ill. He was on his way to work at the time of the accident.

AN EXPERT WHO KNOWS

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt says she is back to her work in the interest of United Nations, now that the election is over.

She adds: "A number of important decisions must now be made to meet the world situation as well as the domestic situation which will arise out of the world situation."

There we have it. And we must admit the "situation" is serious, indeed. So serious we don't see how we can make it without her advice, and her untiring efforts.

What her immediate plans are "in the interest of United Nations" we don't know but if she shows up in Cairo or Jerusalem soon we won't be surprised.

And when she does we will feel as we did when she landed in Guadalcanal during World War Two. We will know the shooting is over.

Tenn. Volunteers Now In Second Place

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP) — Tennessee's Sugar Bowl-bound Volunteers took over second place in the United Press college football ratings today and assumed the quest of overtaking mighty Oklahoma for the national championship.

Oklahoma was the No. 1 choice of 26 coaches on the 35-man board of experts which ranks the teams weekly for the United Press but Tennessee moved into a challenging position following its 6-0 victory over Georgia Tech. Seven coaches made the Vols their first choice.

Texas A&M, the once-tied Southwest Conference leader, moved up to the No. 3 ranking this week, and Oregon State, the likely Pacific Coast Conference entry in the Rose Bowl, broke into the top 10 in the eighth spot. Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners, with a modern major college record of 37 straight victories, now have topped the United Press ratings for seven of the eight weeks of this season.

Sooners seek second title Oklahoma, seeking its second straight national championship, has Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma A&M remaining on its schedule. Tennessee's last three opponents are Southeastern Conference rivals—Mississippi, Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

The Vols' hopes for the national championship thus rest on the long shot prospects of Oklahoma faltering before the season ends, provided, of course, Tennessee can maintain its perfect record.

Both Oklahoma and Tennessee have 7-0 records. Sugar Bowl officials announced last week that the winner of the Tennessee-Georgia Tech game will receive a bid to the New Orleans classic.

Texas A&M, which can earn a Cotton Bowl bid if the NCAA lifts a disciplinary suspension, moved up two notches to the No. 3 ranking while Michigan State remained in fourth place. Each had one first-place vote.

Engineers Drop To Fifth

Georgia Tech dropped from the runner-up spot to fifth place. Ohio State advanced one place to No. 6. Iowa moved up three spots to No. 7, while Oregon State made the biggest jump of the week when it went from 14th to eighth. Michigan retained ninth place and Miami (Fla.), idle last week end, fell 10 notches to No. 10.

Minnesota, in sixth place last week, dropped out of the top 10 to 15th place following its 7-0 setback at the hands of Iowa.

Cards And Giants Keep Eye On "New Look" Brown Team

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants, keeping wary eyes on a Cleveland Brown team that's beginning to look like its old familiar self, will play for the National Football League's Eastern Division leadership next Sunday.

The Cardinals and Giants set up a Yankee Stadium "natural" by winning Sunday to hit the halfway mark in their campaigns with identical 5-1 records. The Cardinals whipped the Philadelphia Eagles, 28-17, on Lamar McHan's four touchdown passes and the Giants edged a crippled but stubborn Pittsburgh Steeler team, 17-14, on Ben Agajanian's 32-yard field goal.

The Detroit Lions used a stout defense and two touchdowns to stretch the league's only perfect record to 6-0 by downing the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 17-13. The Chicago Bears (5-1) remained a game behind Detroit in the Western race by outscoring the Los Angeles Rams, 35-24, as 178-pound Perry Jeter zipped for two second-half touchdowns.

Three Share Cellar

But the Cardinals and Giants were more interested in the showing made by the Browns, who snapped a three-game losing streak by whipping the Green Bay Packers, 24-7.

The Browns (2-4) share the Eastern cellar with Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and need a super-miracle to battle back into contention for the title they've held since 1950.

But Cleveland showed some of its old-time prowess while holding Green Bay, which had scored 101 points in its last three starts, to seven. So the Cards and Giants, each with a game remaining against the Browns, will be eager to see how Coach Paul Brown's team performs against the Baltimore Colts next Sunday at Cleveland. The Colts and Washington Redskins were idle this weekend.

Hart's touchdowns. Bobby Layne's field goal, an alert defense and a costly penalty against the Forty-Niners (1-5) enabled the Lions to win for the fourth time this season by four points or less.

Stall Four Passes

The Rams (1-5) held the Bears to a 21-21 halftime tie before 69,894 fans but the invaders stole four passes in the second half and turned two of them into touchdowns. McHan threw two scoring passes to Gern Nagler and one apiece to Don Stoner and Dave Mann to lead the Cardinals against the Eagles at Chicago.

The Giants scored on Alex Webster's plunge and Chuck Corley's pass to Kyle Rote but Agajanian's field goal made the difference at Pittsburgh as Sid Watson scored twice for the Steelers.

Linebacker Chuck Noll raced 39 yards with Al Carmichael's fumble to put Cleveland in front in the opening minutes. Babe Parilli of the Browns threw only three passes but completed two, one a 26-yard scoring toss to Ray Renfro. Curly Morrison got the other Cleveland touchdown while the Packers (2-4) scored on Tobin Rote's 10-yard pass to Bill Howton in the final period.

Patterson And Sugar Ray Change

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Young Floyd Patterson and veteran Ray Robinson, both underdogs for approaching title fights, have adopted new ring styles while training hopefully for upsets.

"No more flying saucers," said 21-year old Patterson today. "I'm going to have my feet on the ground all the time when I meet Archie Moore." In the past Floyd has been a devotee of the leaping right lead.

Speedy Patterson of Brooklyn fights 39-year old Moore for the vacant heavyweight crown at the Chicago Stadium, Nov. 30. Moore of San Diego, Calif., is favored at 8-5. Middleweight champion Robinson, in the same training ring here at the Long Pond Inn, surprised observers with his brand new "shifting" tactics that include intermittent periods of switch-hitting and many walk-aways, taken from the book of Jersey Joe Walcott.

"I'm using the old noodle," explained 36-year old Sugar Ray, who defends his 160-pound crown against young Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, at Madison Square Garden, Nov. 30. "I'm not going to stand there and let him pile into me on a straight line."

Calves of about 75 pounds or larger at birth are considered best for veal purposes. In the next two to three months, dairymen can expect a return of $4 to $4.50 a hundredweight from the milk used to fatten these calves.

Calves of less than 50 pounds birth weight will return from $3 a hundredweight and downward for the milk they consume in fattening.

It requires about 10 pounds of milk for a pound of gain in a veal calf, he says. Larger calves will require from 1,000 to 1,300 pounds of milk for the period required to produce a good veal calf.

Approximately forty people met at the Dairy Ann Saturday morning at seven o'clock for a delightful breakfast of ham and Class of the First Baptist Church.

Clever place cards bearing

MILLIPEDE HOUSE PESTS CONTROLLED IN TESTS

Millipedes, the dark brown, many-legged "worm" that haras-ses housewives this time of year, apparently can be controlled by three materials.

UK Agricultural Experiment Station entomologists checked the pests this year with heptachlor, aldrin, and chlordane, in granular form. The test treatments will be checked further before general release to the public.
The materials — members of the chlorinated hydrocarbon family — were scattered in granular form in a band a foot wide around house foundations. These contact poisons worked well the researchers said. (The materials and treatment are not recommended or suggested for inside-the-house use.)

Millipede invasions will be checked after the first few hard frosts. Until then, in season, one attraction for them is right

the millipedes into a dust pan.
For that reason, keep porch lights extinguished at night; and doors with glassed areas also should be curtained to cut off light.

Aldrin, heptachlor and chlodane materials (if available) should be used in the 5 per cent granule form.
Inside the house, simply sweep up the millipedes into a dust pan.
Then burn them, or crush them outside.

Kentucky has the second highest tuberculosis death rate in the nation, second only to Arizona. Help make Kentucky safer place to live. Buy and United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD UP — When Ed Wynn turns 70 Friday, he'll celebrate with a firm resolution to look forward to his new career as a dramatic actor instead of dwelling on the 54 years of comedy behind him.

Wynn begins his eighth decade with a "life begins at 70" philosophy. While other veterans retire and read their press clippings, Wynn is proud that he's "beginning a second career in one lifetime."

Wynn said as he reflected on his future, "I was a comedian for 54 years and now I'm starting from scratch in supporting roles as an actor. I hope to build myself up to be a star in drama again."

Advice To Elderly

"The government," he added, with a familiar wrinkle of his brow, "has asked me to go to Washington to speak to people over 60 who don't know what to do with themselves, so I can tell them how I feel. I can't retire. I need mental stimulation."

Wynn recently sold his large home and is living in an apartment in suburban Westwood for which, he grinned, "I optimistically signed a three-year lease." His home museum featuring a staggering collection of 1,408 clippings.

Sign Of Approaching Winter

CHICAGO UP — The first sign of approaching winter is here. National long underwear week will be observed next week.

Straight To The Source

HOLLYWOOD UP — A television production company decided there's nothing like getting story material straight from the horse's mouth. Ziv-TV productions, engaged in preparing a series on the naval academy's 3,600 midshipmen and received ideas from 150.

Biggest Moments

"You've no idea how difficult it was — trying not to use my comedy gestures and voice. For the first time I went on stage without one of my funny hats."

When asked to select the biggest moments of his busy 70 years, Wynn turned to the past.

"A big thrill was meeting Winston Churchill, Sigmund Freud, B. Shaw, Alfred Einstein and Baruch," the bespectacled entertainer said.

"Another thrill was my first love, Keenan's mother."

But Wynn is just as proud over rave reviews of his recent dramatic performance on television's "Playhouse 90" in "Requiem To A Heavyweight."

"Rod Sterling, the author, didn't want me," the ex-comic said slyly. "Even Keenan and the director advised me after the first rehearsals to give up the part. But the producer told me to stick with it."

SYNOPSIS
Casson Diker, a well-to-do amateur detective, is intrigued by Henry Lockyer, a stolid banker, getting drunk before dinner at their club. Casson's curiosity compels him to find out why the normally light-drinking Lockyer is acting in such a manner. After dinner, Casson offers to drive the drunken Lockyer home in hopes of unlocking the secret. Lockyer accepts.

CHAPTER 2

LAUNCETON Street was deserted under the April lamp-light and the squat, Victorian houses had a mellow, contented look. Lockyer was able to walk without assistance to his own front door. Casson had followed him up the short path and the four steps to the door, hoping that the other man would invite him in.

"Thank you," Lockyer said. His speech was just noticeably slurred and he swayed slightly. "That was courteous. Come in."

He poured whisky for both of them.

"I read Witch of Bath," Lockyer said abruptly. "I must tell you I thought it a lot of nonsense. Invented, you know."

"Offer you apologies," Lockyer went on. "I now believe it could be true. I will tell you why. They always do tell, Casson thought in secret triumph. In the end everybody tells someone of their hasty crimes or shameful errors."

"For I tell you," said Lockyer, "I must make it clear that I tell you in the strictest confidence." Casson nodded faintly and the banker continued, "Some days ago I was in the drawing-room after breakfast. My man Dobbie came in. Said there was a visitor. It was unusual, since I never interview people at my house."

However, Dobbie said that he had come to see me in connection with a welfare project I had been working on. So I felt it my duty to see him.

"My scheme is in its final stage of planning. All that remains is to launch an appeal for money. My committee has agreed that we should maintain secrecy until the appeal is launched. We hope thereby to achieve greater effect for our publicity."

"Consequently, very few people know of my scheme. Only the members of my committee, my private secretary, and the technical consultants at the bank."

"I was, therefore, a trifle surprised when this person—a Mr. Bagot he called himself, though

"Do you want me to find him?" Casson asked.

"No," Lockyer shrugged. "Would you like me to catch this little man—without involving you?"

Lockyer finished his whisky. "You couldn't," he said. "What does he look like?"

"Neat, common, insignificant. I doubt if I could recognize him again."

"There must be something about him..."

"Nothing. He was a little taller than I am—about five foot ten. He was probably forty—or fifty. He was thin and clean shaven and his teeth were normal. He wore a raincoat without a belt, a green hat, and brown shoes. He wore heavy, horn-rimmed spectacles and his hair was dark brown and parted in the middle. He had a trace of a accent. He was very clean—face, hands, nails."

"Accout?"

"I can only describe it by saying that it sounded rather common. You understand?"

Casson nodded.

"The only noticeable things about him are his spectacles and his hair," Casson mused. "Therefore it is reasonable to assume that they were false. Real but false. He had darkened his hair, parted it differently, put on the spectacles for the occasion, or put on different spectacles. Without them you might find it hard to recognize him. Have you ever seen him before?"

"No," said Lockyer without hesitation.

"But you say that you wouldn't recognize him again, why shouldn't you have seen him in the past and not recognized him when he blackmailed you?"

"Possible, I suppose. I don't think so."

"How could he have learned all that about you? About your project in particular?"

"I don't know. How can you catch him? He is a nobody, an unnoticeable little man. Thousands like him."

"No. He's different. He has a brain of a sort, courage of a sort, ambition or greed of a sort. And it is of a compelling sort or he would not turn to crime. He has a personality. No man can disguise his personality. Tell me the story again!"

Casson cleverly constructs Bagot's personality in tomorrow's absorbing installment.

put out Western proposals only after their acceptance has been decided, or only to deride them. There was no criticism of the U. N. resolution in the Budapest broadcast.

Observers said the Russians may have intervened at the last minute against admitting any Western observers into the shattered nation.

Late reports from Budapest told of continued rebel resistance in Budapest and the provinces and reported no break in the 21-day general strike which has paralyzed the economy and threatened the nation with starvation.

There were reports of Hungarian patriots fighting Red troops and tanks on the Danube River industrial island of Csepel, south of Budapest, in the northern suburb of Uppes and in southeast district of Koebanya.

by attending meetings, through planes based in Syria would be flown by Russians in combat.

British, French and Israeli forces still occupied Egyptian territory today when the U.N. police force set out for the Middle East. Just when they will withdraw is not known, but Cairo dispatches indicated Egypt expected it would be at once.

Egypt Approves Police Force
Hammarskjold announced Monday Egypt had agreed to accept the international force on its soil to prevent further fighting in the Mideast. But he had "nothing to add" to reports from Cairo that Egypt demanded a virtual veto over the U.N. troop movements.

A Cairo dispatch said Egypt will retain full control of what U.N. forces enter her territory and where they will be stationed. The dispatch said the agreement, worked out by Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the police force commander, and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, also provided the "U.N. forces will withdraw immediately if Egypt so orders."

The agreement would return full control of the Suez Canal to Nasser. Whether France and Britain would accept that now or later remained to be seen. British spokesmen have warned that the coming week will be extremely critical. A U.N. spokesman hinted the U.N. forces may remain until the canal is reopened.

Average humidity ranged from 35 to 40 per cent Monday which is about the driest weather of the tobacco curing season, according to the Weather Bureau at Louisville.

Dry weather is expected to continue today and Wednesday. Low this afternoon 20 to 30 per cent. High tonight 65 to 75 per cent.

University of Kentucky tobacco experts said tobacco barns may remain closed tonight.

Big Goose Gets Vote For Oscar

By ALINE MOSSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD 12 — My Oscar for the best supporting actor of the year goes to a beautiful blue-eyed star who outwiggles Marilyn Monroe and has a temper more fiery than Anna Magnani's.

This star is so temperamental she is living outdoors in a cage where she hisses and honks like an antique taxicab in London.

Samatha, a big white goose with a yellow bill, almost stole one of the year's best pictures, "Friendly Persuasion," from under the well-trained noses of Gary Cooper and Dorothy McGuire. After the critics commented on Samatha's brilliant acting job via Director William Wyler, I looked up the famous bird.

The goose actress lives at Comport Animal Rentals, which rents livestock to the movies and is one of the more interesting fringe businesses in movieland.

SAMATHA HAS DOUBLE

Like Lennie, Samatha has a double who did many scenes in the picture, and both geese actually are male. One was 'bought' from a farm in Glendora, Calif., and the other in Belflower, Calif., after a long talent search.

"The part called for a mean goose who was good-looking and that's not easy to find," explained Lionel Comport as he conducted a tour of his pens and cages in suburban San Fernando.

"Then the goose is supposed to like only Dorothy McGuire, so for the scenes in which she feeds the bird I had to find a gentle goose that looks exactly like the mean one."

Taught Simple Tricks

Comport painstakingly taught the Samathas simple "tricks" that enabled them to "act." For example, one goose was taught to waddle after anybody who runs and thus appeared to be hurrying home in the movie. The scenes in which the goose attacks little Richard Eyer were accomplished by teaching the bird to nibble grain hidden in the boy's pocket and trouser cuffs. "The goose was supposed to be in just a few scenes but after Wyler saw what the bird could do he added many more scenes," beamed Comport.

Since her "Friendly Persuasion" fame, Samatha the goose is limited up for roles in the Robert Cummings and Sabu TV series. She is a hot contender for next year's "Patsy" animal Oscar. And never, vows her owner, will she wind up on somebody's Thanksgiving table.

HIT BREEDING PLAY TO STOP HOUSEFLY PEST

Continued warm fall weather has prolonged the "house-fly" problem for Kentucky horse-wives.

Hit breeding and congregating places, such as garage cans, trash and refuse piles, says the U.K. Agricultural Extension Service, in a 1 per cent oil emulsion spray is considered effective. Follow label directions implicitly, specialists warn.

Aerosol bombs, featuring pyrethrin, and sometimes called "knockdown" sprays, are useful for inside-the-house control.

What puts the Mark of Tomorrow in the new kind of FORD?

Here's what puts the Mark of Tomorrow in the new kind of Ford!

It's the sculptured look. You'll see it the moment you let your eyes wander over this fine car. In a '57 Ford you belong... anywhere.

It's the long, lean lines. There's a greyhound grace to the new Ford. No useless "fat," no showy "padding." Ford is as trim as a jet fighter.

It's the hardtop styling. Fairlane Club and Town Sedans have the hardtop look of Ford Victorias! In these Fairlane beauties, superthin, superstrong center pillars are smartly concealed by bright-metal window frames... to give hardtop beauty when doors are closed.

It's the freedom of choice. Colors? Fabrics? Accessories? Far more than that! Ford gives you a choice of two new, bigger sizes... longer, lower, roomier!

It's the ride that stays gentle. With a new frame that rides sweeter and lower, new springs, new suspension all around, even the roughest roads can't ruffle the poise of the new Ford.

It's the Thunderbird power. Ford celebrates its Silver Anniversary of V-8 leadership with the biggest selection of V-8's in Ford history.* In addition to all this Thunderbird GO, there's a new and more powerful Mileage Maker Six.

Just looking at this Fairlane Club Sedan is a special kind of fun!

It's the record-breaking performance. On the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah, a '57 Ford traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days... an average speed of 108.16 mph, including all pit stops! Another Ford averaged over 107 mph. Altogether, 458 national and international performance records were smashed as Ford rewrote the record book.

It's the big dollar value that lasts and lasts. Styled for tomorrow, a new Ford keeps its value longer. And wonder of wonders, all this extra strength, extra beauty, extra length is yours at low Ford prices!

*Included is a special 270-hp Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 engine available at extra cost. Also, an extra-high-performance Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 delivering up to 250 hp.

Wise man say: "Don't wait for TOMORROW
